VOL. LV., No. 8.

NEW YORK, February 25, 1899.

WHOLE No. 1413

READY TO-DAY.

AN HUNGARIAN NABOB. BY MAURUS JOKAI

The character of the old Nabob in this romantic novel and the wild life of the powerful Magyar nobles at the beginning of the century are revelations to the American reader, while the dramatic interest of the tale never flags. It is considered by Mr. Jeremiah Curtin and others to be Jokai's greatest work.

Size,  $5\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$ ; Binding, cloth, decorative design; Pages, 358; Price, \$1.25.

McTEAGUE. BY FRANK NORRIS.

A Story of San Francisco.

This powerful novel is a sustained study in the development of several human lives, which certainly evinces something nearly akin to genius. The story is harsh, even brutal at times, owing to its environment; but never, perhaps, has the curse of Money been more overwhelmingly presented by an American writer.

Size,  $5\frac{1}{4} \times 8\frac{1}{4}$ ; Binding, cloth, decorated; Pages, 440; Type, 10-point; Price, \$1.50.

RACHEL.

By JANE HELEN FINDLATER

A story which traces the development of Michael Fletcher, a modern prophet, whose wonderful mental and spiritual gifts, and power over his auditors, finally lead him into devious paths. The scene is laid largely in Edinburgh and in London.

Size,  $5 \times 7\frac{1}{4}$ ; Pages, 350; Type, 10-point; Binding, cloth, decorated; Price, \$1.25.

TWO MEN O' MENDIP.

By WALTER RAYMOND.

This a pathetic story of life in Western England in which the wild lawlessness of the miners is directly contrasted with the quiet home existence of the farming community. The characters of these simple-minded folk are drawn with humor and acuteness.

Size,  $5 \times 7\frac{1}{4}$ ; Pages, about 300; Type, 10-point; Binding, cloth, with decorative design; Price, \$1.25.

JUST PUBLISHED.

THE FIGHT FOR SANTIAGO.

The Story of the Soldier in the Cuban Campaign.

By STEPHEN BONSAI.

This is a careful, dispassionate, and able summing up of the whole campaign by a writer who went all through it himself, and who is an authority upon Cuban affairs. Mr. Bonsai has done for the American private soldiers at Santiago what Kinglake did for the English soldiers before Sebastopol.

Size,  $6 \times 9\frac{1}{4}$ ; Pages, 542; Illustrations, 16 full-page insets and 5 maps, 2 of them on a large folder; Binding, cloth; Type, 11-point; Price, \$2.50.

THROUGH THE TURF SMOKE.

The Love, Lore, and Laughter of Old Ireland.

By SEUMAS MAC MANUS ("MAC").

Mr. Mac Manus's clever stories deal with the "Love, Lore, and Laughter of Old Ireland," and the cottage hearths beside which such tales are told must possess unusual fascinations. This is the author's first book in America, though his publications on the other side have gained much popularity.

Size,  $4\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$ ; Pages, about 250; Type, 10-point; Binding, boards, with pictorial design; Price, 75 cents.

The Annual American Catalogue, 1898

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE for 1898 will contain :

- (1) Directory of American Publishers issuing books in 1898.
- (2) Full-title Record, with descriptive notes, in author alphabet, of all books recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, 1898.
- (3) Author-, title-, and subject-index to same, in one alphabet.
- (4) Publishers' annual lists for 1898.

This volume forms the FOURTH ANNUAL SUPPLEMENT to the AMERICAN CATALOGUE, 1890-95.

Half leather, $3.50; in sheets, $3.00.

The edition, as usual, is a limited one. The volumes for 1890 to 1893 are all out of print, and orders for those of 1894, 1895, 1896, and 1897, to ensure supply, should be promptly filed. THE ANNUAL ENGLISH CATALOGUE, for which we have the American market, now includes full title entries, after the manner of the American volume, instead of the previous abbreviated entries. It will be furnished at $1.50 paper, or bound with the American in one volume, half leather, at $5.00, net.

NEARLY READY.

The Annual Literary Index, 1898

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc.; with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology, and Index to Dates of principal Events. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX complements the "Annual American Catalogue" of books, published each year, by indexing (1) articles in periodicals published during the year of its issue; (2) essays and book-chapters in composite books; (3) authors of periodical articles and essays; (4) special bibliographies; (5) authors deceased; (6) dates of principal events during the year. The two volumes together make a complete record of the literary product of the year.

"Of great value to all who would keep advised of the topics and writers in the periodical literature of the day."—Universalist Quarterly.

"Good indexing could no further go."—The Nation.

NOTES IN SEASON.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in preparation a volume on "The United States Naval Academy," by Park Benjamin, of the Class of 1867. The author "spins" a "yarn" of the American midshipman, or, (as he is now improperly termed,) naval cadet, showing his life in the old frigates and ships of the line, and then at the Naval School at Annapolis; and how he grew wiser and wiser as that institution developed to an academy and a college in its progress to a great naval university, and so became the most accomplished and versatile young seaman in the world; together with some reference to the boys who make the best naval officers, and what they must do and know to enter the Naval Academy, and what they have to expect while there. The volume will contain many pictures, "all properly stopped to the 'yarn' as it is handsomely paid out."

DOUBLEDAY & MCCLURE Co. will publish in March S. R. Crockett's new novel, "The Black Douglas," a romance of the fifteenth century; also "The Memoirs of Sergeant Burgoyne, 1812-1813," which gives much light on the character of Napoleon as his soldiers knew him during the terrible Russian campaign. They have in preparation a "Kipling Kalendar" for 1900. It will be mounted from a bas-relief by Mr. J. Lockwood Kipling. The 365 selections for the calendar are made under the author's supervision. Mr. Kipling, Sr., has modelled an extraordinary plaque representing a profile likeness of the author, flanked by two elephants' heads, with a figure of Mowgli and his jungle companions below. This has been reproduced in relief, making a very striking and unusually artistic calendar. There will be two editions—the regular one in heavy paper, embossed; the other an édition de luxe in bronze.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish shortly Ostrogorski's "Democracy and the Organization of Political Parties," translated from the French by Frederick Clarke, and furnished with an introduction by Prof. James Bryce, M.P.; "The Government of Municipalities," by the Hon. Dorman B. Eaton, formerly Commissioner of the United States Civil Service; the third and concluding volume of Prof. James F. McCurdy's "History, Prophecy, and the Monuments," which will follow the history of Israel up to the end of the exile and the close of the Semitic régime in western Asia; "General Physiology: An Outline of the Science of Life," by Max Verworn, M.D., Professor of Physiology in the Medical Faculty of the University of Jena, translated from the second German edition, and edited by Frederic S. Lee, Adjunct Professor of Physiology in Columbia University; "Jesus Delaney," a novel, by Joseph Gordon Donnelly, which incidentally gives a very interesting view of the relations between Catholic and Methodist missionaries in some parts of Mexico; also, a story for boys by Beulah Marie Dix, entitled "Hugh Gwyeth, a Roundhead Cavalier."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day a work entitled "The Christian Conquest of Asia," by Dr. John Henry Barrows, which is, in some degree, the outcome of the World's Parliament of Religions and of the author's trip through the Far East in 1897; "Catholicism, Roman and Anglican," by Dr. A. M. Fairbairn, which includes an analysis of the ideals of Catholicism and of the Catholic revival in England, and discusses scepticism and apologetics as represented by Newman and other exponents of Catholic theology; "If I Were a Man, the story of a Southerner," by Harrison Robertson, a new volume in the Ivory Series; and new editions, uniform with Froude's other works, of "The Life and Letters of Erasmus," "Lectures on the Council of Trent," and "The Divorce of Catherine of Aragon." They will publish next week a collection of stories by George W. Cable, entitled "Strong Hearts," which will include "The Entomologist," "The Taxidermist," and others recently published in Scribner's; also "The Amateur Cracksman," a new novel, by E. W. Hornung, whose hero is a fascinating rascal of modern fiction. A gentleman born and bred, he enters upon an astonishing career of crime, bringing to every enterprise an iron nerve, as well as a perfect ease and self-possession—an artist in crime, just as Sherlock Holmes was an artist in detection.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Consists of the letters written by the Brownings to each other during the period of their courtship. As stated in the preface, they are given to the world with the full consent of their writers. The letters are the record of a great love, and the love-story told in them has all the elements of a novel of the old letter-writing school. There are, of course, many instructive comments on books, authors, and critics of the time, but for the most part the writers are concerned only with their love for each other and for each other's work.

The story opens in a small summer hotel in New England. Clementina Claxon, the daughter of a poor family in the neighborhood, is the heroine. She is employed in the hotel in a general capacity, and here Gregory, the head waiter and a college student, falls in love with her. Mr. and Mrs. Lander, a wealthy, quaint, old-fashioned New England couple, are captivated by Clementina's pretty face and pretty ways, and when Mr. Lander dies, two years later, Mrs. Lander practically adopts Clementina. They travel together through Italy, where Gregory is again met as a private tutor, and Clementina finds other admirers.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

FEBRUARY 25, 1899.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

"NEW" BOOKSELLING.

THE suggestion made at the librarians' conference last summer by Mr. Dewey that libraries in small towns should add bookselling to their other functions seems to have borne fruit in one instance at last. A circular issued prior to the Christmas holidays by an Illinois library has come to our notice, in which announcement is made of a week's exhibition of Christmas books for children, affording "an opportunity to get the best books without going downtown to the crowded stores." It adds: "Attendants will give help in the selection by looking up reviews and calling attention to lists of 'best books' furnished by competent critics. Orders will be taken upon cash payments at downtown prices." The circular closes with the invitation: "Come to the exhibit even if you do not buy."

We should not be surprised to have imitations shortly of the successful adventure in book-selling by Caleb Atwater, described in a recent issue of the Dial. Mr. Atwater, it seems, loaded a cart with copies of his "History of Ohio," and, travelling through the State, sold the work to the farmers and factory hands at their own doors. It would undeniably be a novelty to have Marion Crawford drive up in a Roman chariot to a probable customer's doorstep with a supply of "Ave Roma Immortalis"; or gentle Lafcadio Hearn amble along in a jinrikisha with a lapful of his latest Japanese "Exotics"; or Colonel Roosevelt dash up on a mustang with a knapsackful of his forthcoming book on the "Rough Riders," and a commissary wagon with the rest of the edition following behind! Who could resist the temptation to buy, especially when the distinguished author could, without any extra charge, put his autograph on the flyleaf while the customer was fumbling in his pocket for the money?

This would be interesting for a while, and some books might be sold through such experiments; but would it be bookselling!

SUIT OVER THE SPANISH LETTER OF COLUMBUS.

BRAYTON IVES, the well-known New York book collector, has begun suit against Ellis & Elvey, the London booksellers, to recover $4374, with interest, representing in part the amount paid for the Spanish letter of Columbus to Luis de Sant' Angel, Escribana de Racion, of the Kingdom of Aragon, dated February 15, 1493, supposed to have been printed, in quarto, by Johann Rosenbach at Barcelona early in April of the same year. Mr. Ives claims that the defendants guaranteed that the book was a copy of Columbus's letter first announcing his discovery of the New World, printed from movable types, and not a reproduction by photography, lithography, engraving, or any other process. He therefore, on March 21, 1890, gave £900 for the book. He says that some five years afterward he discovered that he had been deceived, and that the book was only "a counterfeit presentment" of the work which he believed he had bought—a skilful reproduction of the original work by means of photographic plates. He says that, if this be so, the book is worth only 10s. 6d.

Mr. Ives states that he bought other books from Ellis & Elvey, in May, 1895, to the value of $583.16, and says the defendants have a right to a counterclaim for this sum. He asks that a judgment be given in his favor for $3788.29, with interest on $4374 from March 21, 1890 to May 25, 1895, and with interest on $3788.29 from that date.

The defendants say that they sold the book to Mr. Ives in good faith, and that they believe it to have been worth the money he paid for it. They say that, so far as their knowledge and information goes, it is a copy of the original letter written in Spanish, printed from type. They say that Mr. Ives never indicated that he thought he had been deceived for over five years, and that if the book has deteriorated in value it is because he has discredited the value of the work himself.

Charles E. Hughes, in opening the case for the plaintiff, said that Gilbert Ellis, one of the defendants, had come here in 1890 to try and sell the book for £10,000, but after a stay of some months found it impossible to get that price for it. He was introduced to Mr. Ives, who was a collector of rare books, and on Mr. Ellis's representations that it was one of the original books printed from Christopher Columbus's letter, Mr. Ives bought it for £900.

Until 1866 it was supposed that no copy of Columbus's letter in Spanish was to be found. Then, however, a copy was discovered in the Ambrosian Library in Milan. In 1889 the Ives copy was found in the possession of an Italian family. It was thought to resemble the Ambrosian copy; but the typographical differences were such as to seem to prove that they are separate and different editions. At the time Mr. Ives's copy came into the market it was considered to be the editio princeps, and the Ambrosian a copy. In 1889 another copy of the Spanish letter, in folio, was offered by a dealer in Paris at $13,000; but eminent authorities, among them Henry Harrisse, did not hesitate to assert that it was not a genuine early edition. Some time later Quaritch obtained possession of this folio copy and offered it at about two-thirds of the former owner's price, or $8000. Quaritch professed to be quite confident both as to the time and place when and where his copy was printed. Inasmuch as the printed letter bears no mark of date or place or printer's name, it would be a difficult matter to sustain such an assertion by proof whether the copy be folio or quarto. The defence is foreshadowed that Mr. Ives gave too much weight to Quaritch's claim. It will be a nice question to settle; and whichever way the verdict goes now, it will not definitely settle whether the book is genuine or spurious.

BOOKS ONLY TO BE IMPORTED BY MAIL.

IMPORTERS of photographs and engravings are exercised over the enforcing of the "Department Circular No. 13," issued by the Treasury Department, which bars all importations from the mails except books. The text of the order is as follows:

The department has decided (Synopsis 18887 and 20540) that books are the only articles subject to duty which can be legally imported in the mails. These may be delivered upon payment of the duties. All other dutiable mail matter should be seized, and for the first offence may be released upon payment of a fine equal to the duty, and for a second offence, unless it shall appear that the addressees had no knowledge of the prohibition, released only upon payment of the appraised value, viz., the foreign value with duty added. In no case will officers of the customs release property under seizure the duty on which is in excess of $25, without first obtaining the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The addressees of dutiable mail packages should be informed of the prohibition under the Universal Postal Union Convention of such importations, and that the appraised value will be exacted on such subsequent importations.

The restrictions herein do not apply to mail importations under parcels post conventions, nor to the provisions of article 354 of the Customs Regulations, 1892, in relation to passengers' baggage and effects.

Though the order is dated January 30, and is supposed to have become operative then, the picture dealers and publishers of books did not feel the pressure of it until last week.

The office of Deputy Collector of Customs, first assistant, B. W. Winters, is now blocked with parcels held up under the new order. The deputy refuses to deliver the postal parcels under conditions that had obtained for years without personal authority from the Deputy Collector of Customs, Judge John Quackenbush.

The importers are writing letters to the Treasury Department, and some responsible person in that department has telegraphed here for "further information."

It is claimed that this trouble has been brought about by some importers who dodged the revenue laws in the sale of photographs. As a consequence the Treasury Department has issued this general order, which is far wider in its scope than is apparent now. If carried out it will prohibit everything coming in from foreign mails except letters, newspapers, and complete books. Merchandise of any sort is debarred. Importers of all descriptions who have been accustomed to buy from samples sent by mail will be most affected by the new ruling.

BOOK PRODUCTION IN ITALY IN 1898.

ACCORDING to the Bolletino delle pubblicazioni Italiane there were published in Italy, during 1898, 9670 books and journals, or 62 less than in 1897, classified as follows:

Bibliography.....	77
Encyclopædias.....	4
Proceedings published by Academies.....	21
Philosophy, Theology, and Religion.....	836
Education.....	950
History, Biography, Geography, etc.....	1009
Philology.....	419

Lombardy, as usual, issued the larger number, heading the list with 1942 publications, while Campania and Basilicata bring up in the rear with 38 and 32 publications respectively.

A PHOTOGRAPHIC PAPER WAR.

WAR has been declared among the manufacturers of photographic paper. The formation of the combine among five big manufacturers to control in this country the entire product of Rives & Steinbach, the German manufacturers of the raw paper used for sensitizing, which was announced several months ago, precipitated the battle all along the line.

The product of Rives & Steinbach, according to the Chicago Inter-Ocean, has been considered the only paper capable of successful treatment for photographic purposes. Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended in this country in experimenting to produce a paper that could take the place of the German product. These have failed because of the failure to find water pure enough. When exposed to the action of the chemicals necessary in photography these American papers have become spotted. The German firm controls an entire creek which has been considered the only water with which it was possible to make paper for this purpose.

"Since the announcement of the combine that had secured control of the United States market for the Rives & Steinbach paper, however, the Western Camera Company has announced that the Holyoke Paper Company has succeeded, after experiments lasting several years and after the expenditure of $130,000, in making a paper as good as the German product. So the Western Camera Company defies the combine, and is pushing the warfare. The Nepera Chemical Company announces that it has two years' stock of raw paper on hand, and declines to be driven from the market. Other manufacturers are making arrangements to obtain raw paper in various ways, and there seems to be a general disposition to tell the trust to 'come on and fight it out.'

"The combine consists of the Eastman Kodak Company, American Aristo Company, Photo Stock Company, New Jersey Aristo Company, and Brown & Palmer. The high-class photographers rather welcome the new order of things, as they have always used the higher grade paper, upon which there is but little advance. They believe the new conditions will compel the cheap photographers to raise their prices or to be driven to the wall. Some of the manufacturers outside of the combine also welcome the advance in prices. This is true of those who make the better grades of paper and have always maintained prices, despite the cutting by makers of cheap papers.

"The fight will be watched with great interest not only by regular photographers, but also by the thousands of amateurs and 'kodak fiends' who use the sensitized paper."

BOOKSHOPS IN HAVANA.

SOME little improvement has been made in Havana bookshops since the Americans arrived there. "But they are still remarkably antiquated and obsolete," writes a returned New Yorker to the New York Evening Post. "The newest books in English are the expired copyright, yellow-covered novels that you can buy in Nassau Street from the hand-cart men for five cents, which, having been obtained from tourists second-hand, are sold in Havana for fifty cents or so. On the shelves there are a few books in English, French, or Spanish that you could not imagine an American wanting to read, and since General Ludlow forbade the sale of immoral and obscene works the shelves have been much lightened. There were no good editions or fine bindings.

"When my Spanish teacher wanted to find me a Spanish-English grammar of a well-known name, she went into every bookshop in town, and at last had to be satisfied with a quaintly dilapidated volume published in 1863. Ollendorf and Butler they have in good condition, but they are English-Spanish, not Spanish-English. Enormous prices are charged, and I never yet saw a book sold in any bookshop; like all other Havana merchants, the booksellers do business on the plan of few sales and large profits. That plan saves work. After looking over many shops for a possible rare edition of 'Don Quixote,' I came upon a novelty. It was American, strictly—Horace Greeley's treatise on farming!

"Until the Sigsbee story of the Maine explosion came out, one never saw for sale an American magazine that was less than eight months old. The English and French illustrated papers were quite as old, and much worn by the thumbing of persons who wished to look and not buy. Newspapers are so dear that one gets over the habit of reading them; the tuppenny London Times, for instance, costing 25 cents, Spanish silver, and New York newspapers 20 cents. These prices do not represent the entire cost, for you are expected to buy a whole set; that is, one of each date since the last steamer arrived. You may not be content with a copy of the very latest date, but must usually get all those back to the date of that you last read."

AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION gave their annual dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel on the evening of the 17th inst. Over two hundred persons were present. Among the speakers were Rowland B. Mahany, of Buffalo, who discussed the "Threshold of the New Century"; Lieutenant-Governor Woodruff, who spoke to the sentiment of "The Public Men and their Relations to the Press"; and St. Clair McKelway, who responded to the toast, "The Press in its Relations to Public Men."

At its business meeting in the afternoon the association elected the following officers for the current year: President, S. H. Kaufmann, of The Washington Star; vice-president, M. R. McCrae, of The Cincinnati Post and other newspapers; secretary, W. C. Bryant, of The Brooklyn Times; treasurer, Edward P. Call, of The New York Evening Post.

The following were chosen members of the Executive Committee: William H. McLean, representing The Philadelphia Bulletin; C. M. Palmer, The New York Journal; A. A. Palmer, The Chicago Times-Herald; Frederick E. Whiting, The Boston Herald. The inspectors of election were Herman Ridder, of The New York Staats-Zeitung, and B. G. Wells, of The Philadelphia Press.

Various subjects relating to the internal affairs of newspaper publication offices were discussed. The President was authorized to appoint a special committee of three to draft a resolution requesting the Secretary of the Treasury to devise some method by which a Government postal check may be issued. The sense of the meeting was in favor of having the Government issue postal checks for small amounts of money in place of post-office money-orders. The newspaper publishers are especially interested in this matter, because some of them are frequently embarrassed by the large aggregation of postage stamps which are sent to them in small remittances. The free use of the desired postal checks would, the publishers think, put a stop to the use of postage stamps as currency.

AMERICAN PAPER AND PULP ASSOCIATION.

THE American Paper and Pulp Association began its twenty-second annual session on the morning of the 16th inst. at the Waldorf-Astoria. Hugh J. Chisholm, the president, called the meeting to order. Colin K. Urquhart, formerly of the Howard Lockwood Publishing Co., and now editor and publisher of Paper, read a paper on "Robert—the Father of Modern Paper-Making." When he had finished, an informal reception was held, and this was followed by a luncheon.

The afternoon session was opened by a paper read by J. T. Fanning, of the American Society of Civil Engineers, in which he reviewed the history of the development of water-power in the United States.

An interesting paper was read by George W. Rafter, entitled "The Application of the Principles of Forestry and Water Storage to the Mill-streams of New York State." He said that New York had always been the Empire State from the view of the hydraulic engineer, and that the State was pre-eminent in its possibilities on account of the fact that it touches both the ocean and the great lakes.

According to Mr. Rafter the paper and pulp business had been developed in New York more largely than in any other State, on account of the great water-power of the State, which has been developed extensively in recent years. In 1880 he said that the power utilized from the principal streams of the State was only about 35,000 horse-power, but in 1898 this had been increased to more than 166,000 horse-power. He said it would be possible to get 1,500,000 horse-power in all from the streams within the State's boundaries, and he expected that about 1,000,000 horse-power of this would be harnessed within the next two years.

The speaker argued that the development of water-power for manufacturing purposes had been greatly retarded by the construction of the Erie Canal, which caused the interest of the "middleman" to be considered paramount to that of the manufacturer. Mr. Rafter illustrated his paper with lantern pictures.

Dr. Tolman, Secretary of the League for Social Service, spoke on "Industrial Betterment." Another paper read was "The Conservation of Water-Power Abroad," by L. F. Vernon Harcourt, London.

At the second session held on the 17th inst. J. R. MacNeillie read a paper on "The National Organization of the Paper Industry in Other Countries, from Data Obtained from the Secretary of the Organization." "The Education of Men in the Industrial Professions and Trades" was the title of a paper read by Ira Nelson Hollis, Professor of Engineering at Harvard. Col. H. M. Chittenden, Chief Engineer of the Fourth Army Corps, United States Volunteers, read a paper on "The Conservation of Stream Flow as a Legitimate Field for Public Expenditure," and Prof. Arthur T. Hadley, of the Chair of Political Economy in Yale, read a paper on "Industrial Combination: Its Failures and Successes."

The election of officers, which closed the day session, resulted in the choice of the following: President, P. C. Cheney; secretary, C. W. Pantoul; vice-presidents, W. Murray Crane,

M. M. Armstrong, F. H. Parks, George W. Hammond, Frank Squires, and L. B. Bean.

The convention came to an end in the evening, with a dinner held in the grand ball-room of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Hugh J. Chisholm, the president of the association, acted as chairman and toastmaster. His opening address was brief, and was confined to expressions of welcome to the guests and of thanks to those who had read papers upon subjects connected with paper-making before the convention. He closed by introducing Whitelaw Reid, who talked briefly on "Our National Opportunities," in place of Senator Frye, who had been expected to be present to the last minute. At the close Mr. Reid spoke of the shocking news from Paris of the death of the President of the French Republic, to whom he referred as an eminent servant of a sister republic and a good friend to America.

Lieutenant-Governor Woodruff spoke on "The Woods and Waters of New York and Their Relation to Our Industries." He devoted himself mainly to a discussion of forest cultivation for the continuous supply of raw material and water conservation for a constant source of power to operate mills. The differences that had existed between lumbermen and those interested in the preservation of the forests, he said, would be reconciled by the important system of forest management sure to result from the original investigation instituted by Colonel William K. Fox, the State Superintendent of Forests, and the experiments lately made by Giffort Pinchot and his associates. The necessity for practical forest culture was acknowledged to-day, Mr. Woodruff said, as it had never been acknowledged before. It was estimated that with the present rate of cutting the supply of spruce in the Adirondacks would be exhausted in twenty years. The Lieutenant-Governor thought that the constitutional restriction which forbade the cutting of timber on State land made that land unavailable for the financial good of the State, and that the restriction was in direct conflict with the State's interests. It was bad policy to allow mature trees to die and rot when they might be utilized. The value of the annual forest product in this country, the speaker continued, was greater than the combined value of the gold, silver, coal, and iron outputs.

Ex-Congressman John S. Wise, who followed, spoke on the subject of "Things Settled and Unsettled in the War with Spain."

W. H. Parsons then read a series of resolutions thanking the outgoing officers of the association for their administration during the last year. The remaining speakers were ex-Governor Flower, Warner Miller, Mayor Z. K. Pangborn, and the Rev. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur.

SOCIETY OF AMERICAN AUTHORS.

THE annual meeting and election of the Society of American Authors was held on the 15th inst. at the Windsor Hotel. The officers elected were: President—Rastus S. Ransom; Vice-Presidents—Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Gen. Lew Wallace, Dr. Thomas Dunn English, Hubert Howe Bancroft, Mrs. Ellen Hardin Walworth, and Miss Grace Denio Litchfield; Treasurer—Morris Patterson Ferris; Secretary—Edward Hagaman Hall.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

NO STANDARDS FOR COPYRIGHT.

THE conference report on the Legislative, Executive, and Judicial Appropriation bill, as submitted on the 21st inst. and adopted by the Senate, omits entirely the obnoxious paragraph inserted in the House of Representatives, which sought to place in the hands of the Librarian of Congress arbitrary power to alter the standards of copyrights. The paragraph which crept into the bill in the lower branch of Congress read as follows:

That on and after July 1, 1899, no person shall be entitled to a copyright unless the copies deposited with the Librarian of Congress of such copyright book or other article, or the photograph deposited of a work of the fine arts, shall be of such substantial and permanent paper or substance and ink or impression as shall be according to such standards as shall be from time to time established and approved by said librarian.

In the Senate the provision was stricken out after a protest against its retention had been lodged by the American Publishers' Copyright League through its counsel. The conferees agreed to recommend an acquiescence on the part of the House in the Senate's action.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

RUDYARD KIPLING is dangerously ill in his apartments at the Grenoble, Seventh Avenue and Fifty-sixth Street, New York. He has inflammation of the lungs, attended by fever.

MISS BEATRICE HARRADEN has changed the title of her new book, if indeed she ever intended to use it, from "I, Too, Have Come Through Wintry Terrors," to the simple and expressive "The Fowler." The book will be published in this country by Dodd, Mead & Co.

MISS GODFREY, whose musical novel, "Poor Human Nature," is in its second impression, in answer to a request from her publisher for information about herself, writes: "Of myself there is little enough to tell, unless that I belong to Winchester, where my home was until quite lately. That is a place very well known to American tourists. I made my debut in Temple Bar with 'A Green Door,' the first thing I ever wrote for publication."

WILLIAM HEINEMANN, the London publisher, was married in Rome on the 21st inst. to Magda Stuart Sindici, who wrote a book entitled "Via Lucis," that was published a short time ago over the pseudonym of "Kassandra Vivaria." Mrs. Heinemann is a young Italian lady of good birth, who, as her name indicates, has Scotch blood in her veins. She refused to adopt a religious life which her parents desired for her, and, possessing private means, went to London, where her beauty and remarkable talents won for her a wide circle of friends. Among the first of these was Mr. Heinemann, who published "Via Lucis."

PROFESSOR EDWARD BRADFORD TITCHENER is preparing for The Macmillan Company "A Laboratory Manual of Experimental Psychology," which will very likely be issued in the fall. The work will be in two volumes and will detail an elementary course of laboratory work. The first volume will deal with qualitative analysis, the second with the exact measurement of mental processes. Each volume will be published in a student's and a teacher's edition, the former giving instructions as regards the conduct of experiments, control of introspection, etc., and the latter furnishing references, cognate questions and exercises, and standard results.

AT the public banquet to Hall Caine at Douglas a couple of weeks ago, on the occasion of his return from America, the novelist made a singularly happy and effective speech, in the course of which he explained how it was he became an author. When he first thought of writing he was living in a bungalow on the Isle of Thanet with Dante Gabriel Rossetti, who was dying for want of sleep. To relieve the tedium of long wakeful nights Mr. Caine told him stories of the Isle of Man. Rossetti was charmed with the picture of a little nation standing apart, with its own race and its own law, and its own government and its own customs. "Why not write all this?" he said. The idea had not occurred to Mr. Caine before, but he saw at once how readily the island lent itself to literary treatment, and we know all the rest.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Paper is the title of new weekly journal devoted to the paper industry in all its branches, just begun by Colin K. Urquhart. With him are associated W. H. Ukers and J. M. Fair, both of whom have been with him formerly connected with The Paper Trade Journal and The American Stationer. The first number is almost entirely given up to an illustrated account of the last week's annual meeting of the American Paper and Pulp Association. Paper pledges itself to "stand for the advancement and the best progress of the trade in all its branches"—a promise that the experience and ability of its conductor will undoubtedly successfully and abundantly fulfil.

The North American Review has been sold by Lloyd S. Bryce and David A. Monroe to George B. M. Harvey. The price paid was in the neighborhood of $225,000. Mr. Harvey will assume editorial direction of the magazine with the May number. The new proprietor of The North American Review was born in Peacham, Vt., February 16, 1864. He was graduated at the Caledonia Grammar School of that town, and began writing for the local papers when fifteen years old. He served as reporter on The Springfield Republican and also on The Chicago Daily News. He came to New York and began work as a reporter on The World in 1885, and four years later was made its managing editor. He resigned in 1893 and became the private secretary of William C. Whitney, holding the position for two years, when he began the development of electrical railroads on Staten Island. His interests also extended to a number of New Jersey railroads. He is president of the Asbury Park and Sea Girt Railroad Company, is treasurer of the Staten Island Ferry Company, and vice-president of the National Salt Company. In 1898 he formed the Harvey syndicate and purchased the street railways of Havana and other Cuban properties. He is a director of the Audit Company and of the Mechanics and Traders' Bank of New York City. He is the chief owner of The Newark Daily Advertiser and president of the company.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ARDMORE, IND. TY.—Boyd & Stowe, booksellers, have sold out.

ATHENS, GA.—D. W. McGregor, bookseller and stationer, has made an assignment.

BALTIMORE, MD.—The book and stationery store of J. H. Medairy & Co. has been burned out.

BANGOR, ME.—D. Bugbee & Co., booksellers, bookbinders, and stationers, at 13 Hammond Street, have dissolved partnership, the senior partner, Col. David Bugbee, retiring. The firm is the oldest in Bangor, and one of the most widely known in Maine, having been established in June, 1836, when Colonel Bugbee, who came from Pomfret, Vt., established himself as bookbinder, blank-book manufacturer and bookseller. Edwin F. Dillingham, who settled in Bangor in 1847, was admitted to partnership with Colonel Bugbee in 1854, under the firm-name of D. Bugbee & Company. This firm has continued uninterruptedly up to the 9th inst. Colonel Bugbee, who has been away from the business for several months on account of ill-health, is one of the best-known men in Bangor, and his many friends will regret to hear of his withdrawal from active business life. The business will be continued by Mr. Dillingham, the junior partner.

BILLINGS, MONT.—J. C. Sperry, bookseller, has gone into bankruptcy.

BRISTOL, VT.—George P. Cole and Harley Palmer have bought the book business of F. W. Nash.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.—D. J. Doomink & Sons have gone out of business.

MONMOUTH, ILL.—D. B. Harvey and Will McKelvey have bought the Monmouth Book Company, and will conduct it under the firm-name of Harvey & McKelvey.

NEW YORK CITY.—City Marshal Louis Levy has sold out the effects of the Great Round World Publishing Company, of No. 3 West Eighteenth Street, by a receiver's sale, and realized $1613. The right to publish The Great Round World, with subscription lists, etc., brought $1000, and back numbers with copyrights, etc., $525.

OTSEGO, MICH.—J. I. Woodbeck has bought the stock of books and stationery of C. A. Barnes, and taken a lease of the store to which he has removed his own stock of periodicals and music.

PEKIN, ILL.—H. G. Buss has bought Tracy A. Smith's stock of books.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX.—Seng Brothers, booksellers and stationers, have assigned.

SAN DIEGO, CAL.—J. Cady Packard has retired from the firm of Stephens & Son and opened a bookstore of his own at 651 Fifth Street.

SANTA ANA, CAL.—N. A. Ulin has bought an interest in the Santa Ana Book Store.

TEMPLE, TEX.—The Temple Book and Stationery Company has been sold to L. O. Harvey, who will consolidate the same with his bookstore. R. P. Buckingham, for so long the manager of the Temple Book and Stationery Company, will retire from business.

WILKESBARRE, PA.—J. C. Madden, the well-known newsdealer, has bought Brown's bookstore, and will improve and enlarge it.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

D. C. HEATH & Co. have just ready Goldoni's "Un Curioso Accidente," with introduction and notes by Dr. J. D. M. Ford, of Harvard University.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish next month a new novel by Horace Annesley Vachell, to be entitled "The Procession of Life, a Novel of California."

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have in preparation "The Life of William Morris," by J. W. Mackail, with portraits and numerous illustrations by E. H. New.

JAMES J. MCCARTHY, with Henry Altemus, of Philadelphia, sailed for Europe by the Teutonic on the 22d inst. He will visit England, France, and Germany on business, and return probably in April.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Stationers' Board of Trade, New York, February 14, the by-laws were amended so as to allow one man to fill the offices of secretary and treasurer, and E. H. Loveless, secretary, was elected to the position of treasurer.

THE NEW AMSTERDAM BOOK CO. will publish next month an edition of Edgar Allan Poe's "Arthur Gordon Pym," illustrated by A. D. MacCormack. This will be followed by "The Gold Bug," and the "Murders of the Rue Morgue," also illustrated by Mr. MacCormack.

It may help some of our readers to better remember who Rev. Samuel June Barrows, the new Librarian of Congress, is when we mention that he is the author of the scholarly book of travel entitled "The Isles and Shrines of Greece," which was published early last year by Roberts Brothers. It is now on the list of Little, Brown & Co.

THE TRIPTYCH, a trio of lovers of good literature and good printing, whose home is at 991 Amsterdam Avenue, New York, have put forth a dainty leaflet containing "Two Love Sonnets," by Gaspara Stampa, the Italian poetess, who lived in Venice in the sixteenth century. The sonnets are translated by George Fleming.

THE newsdealers of Worcester, Mass., have formed an alliance for defence under the name of The Worcester Newsdealers' Association. Their first fight is against the New York World and Journal, who have advanced the price of out-of-town papers. The dealers are hopeful that united action will oblige these journals to reduce the trade price to its former figure.

CHARLES H. BROWNING, author of "Americans of Royal Descent," has brought action in the Philadelphia Common Pleas Court No. 2 against Mrs. Maria K. Van Rensselaer, in which he seeks to recover $25,000 damages for defamation of character in the publication of an article in a New York weekly paper about the society formed a year ago called "The Order of the Crown."

GINN & Co. have nearly ready Grillparzer's "Sappho," edited for their International Modern Language Series, by Prof. C. C. Ferrell of the Mississippi University. They expect to issue shortly "Macaulay's Lays of Ancient Rome," with introduction, notes, and pronouncing vocabulary of proper names, by Moses Grant Daniell; and "Sir Bevis, a tale of the fields," adapted from Richard Jefferies's "Word Magic," by Josephine Kelley.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, have just published in their Popular Sunset Series the following novels by Mary J. Holmes: "Tempest and Sunshine," "The English Orphans," "The Homestead on the Hillside," and "Lena Rivers." In the Sunny-side Series they have published "White Dandy; or, Master and I," by Velma Caldwell Melville. They announce that they have reissued the entire list of the Old Sleuth's Own Series, with new and attractive covers.

WILLIAM H. WARD, bookseller, Galesburg, Ill., was granted permission by the city council to open a book auction at a lower rate of license than prescribed by the city ordinance, which is $10 a day. Mr. Ward was allowed to do business at the rate of $12 a year. Later he was arrested charged with violating the ordinance and was found guilty. After his release he resumed business and was promptly rearrested, and on a jury trial was again found guilty. The prosecution held that an ordinance could not be repealed by a resolution.

R. H. RUSSELL has added to the souvenirs of Maude Adams in "The Little Minister," and of Olga Nethersole in some of the plays from her repertoire, a unique set of designs by the talented young artist, Pamela Colman Smith, illustrating some of the most picturesque characters in "Trelawny of the Wells." Each print is carefully touched up by hand and enclosed in a colored "folder." The subjects presented are "Rose Trelawny," "Imogen," "Rosen and Imogen," "Imogen and Tom Wrench," in all the color of their old-fashioned costumes, as they appear on the stage.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just issued "The City Wilderness," a settlement study by residents and associates of the South End House, edited by Robert A. Woods, head of the House. It is an account of the round of life in a great working-class quarter situated at the centre of population in Boston, and containing 40,000 inhabitants. This district, formerly called "the Neck," has changed so greatly that to many citizens of Boston it is almost as much an unknown land as are some of our new national dependencies. The book represents one of the most considerable results of university settlement work, and follows a method in many respects unique.

HARPER & BROTHERS announce a work entitled "A Thousand Days in the Arctic," by Frederick G. Jackson. It will contain a number of illustrations from the author's photographs and drawings by Mr. Macbeth and others. They also print the following warning in Harper's Weekly for February 4: "Will our friends in the West, both on the Pacific Coast and in the Mississippi Valley, please have an eye out for a reprehensible person who sometimes describes himself as George W. Thayer, and at other times as R. W. Gardner, and doubtless uses other names still? He represents himself as agent of 'The International Fashion Company' and 'The Bazar Fashion Company,' neither of which, so far as known, exists, except in his imagination. He also feigns to be an agent for the house of Harper & Brothers, which corporation does exist as heretofore, but does not employ him. His method is to make some proposition so absurd as to be suspicious, but set forth in blank forms of agreement, on the strength of which he collects four or five dollars, or less, and moves on. Do not dally with this person, for he is an impostor. The Messrs. Harper have warned the trade not to pay money to any person on their account, saying 'All payments intended for Harper & Brothers should be made in the form of bank draft, post-office money-order, express money-order, or cheque—all payable to the order of Harper & Brothers.'"

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in preparation the second volume of the "History of the Netherlands," by Prof. P. J. Block, of the University of Leyden, translated by Ruth Putnam; and the second part of "The Civil War on the Border," by Wiley J. Britton. The following will be added to the series of Writings of the Fathers of the Republic: the continuation of "The Writings of James Monroe," edited by S. M. Hamilton; "The Writings of James Madison," edited by Gaillard Hunt, of the Department of State; the sixth and concluding volume of "The Writings of Rufus King," edited by Dr. Charles R. King; and the tenth and concluding volume of "The Writings of Thomas Jefferson," edited by Paul Leicester Ford. To the Heroes of the Nations series they will add "Bismarck and the New German Empire," by J. W. Headlam, and "Oliver Cromwell and the Rule of the English Puritan," by Charles Firth. For the Story of the Nations series they will have a volume on "The West Indies," by Amos Kidder Fiske, whose purpose is to compress within the compass of one moderate volume the information about the islands—their history and physical aspects, their natural resources and material conditions, their political relations and apparent destiny, which would meet the needs of the "general reader"; "The Story of China," by Robert K. Douglas, of the British Museum; and "The Story of Austria, the home of the Hapsburg dynasty, from 1282 to the present day," by Sidney Whitman. Their other announcements include "The Life of George Borrow," the author of "The Bible in Spain," etc., by William I. Knapp; "A Life of Paul Jones," by James Barnes; "Erasmus," by Prof. E. Emerton, a new volume in the Heroes of the Reformation series; "Israel Putnam," by W. F. Livingston, a direct descendant of the General, in the American Men of Energy series; "Roman Africa: archæological walks in Algiers and Tunis," by Gaston Boissier; "Proportion and Harmony in Line and in Color," by George L. Raymond; the fifth edition, revised and enlarged, of "A Junior Course in Practical Zoölogy," by Marshall and Hurst; "Our Insect Friends and Foes," by Belle S. Cragin; "Nature Studies in Berkshire," illustrated by reproductions in photogravure of nature photographs, by the Rev. W. Coleman Adams; "Ornamental Shrubs," by Lucius D. Davis; "The Children of the Mist," a novel, by Eden Phillpotts; a new and cheaper edition of "John Marmaduke," a romance of the time of Cromwell, by S. H. Church; "Lone Pine," a story of adventure on the Prairies of the Southwest, by R. B. Townshend; "For the King," a volume of verse, by Robert Cameron Rogers; "The Poems of Therese," translated from the German, by Ellen Frothingham; "A Study of Wagner," by Ernest Newman; "Dante Interpreted for Students," by E. Wilson, with original translations from "The Inferno"; "The New Far East," a study of present political conditions and prospects, by Arthur Diosy; also "Islam in Africa," by the Rev. Anson P. Atterbury, D.D. They are to publish a series of books to be known as Literary Hearthstones, to be edited by Marion Harland (Mrs. Terhune). Each volume will contain two subjects. As far as arranged they will be "Charlotte Brontë and Cooper"; "Hannah More and John Knox"; "John Bunyan and Sir Thomas More"; and "The Gurneys and the Wesleys."

FOREIGN NOTES.

WARD, LOCK & Co. have in preparation an important work on Arctic exploration entitled "With Nansen in the North," by Lieutenant H. Johansen, who was the sole companion of Dr. Nansen across the ice towards the North Pole after leaving the Fram.

J. M. DENT & Co. will shortly publish a "History of the Pianoforte and Pianoforte Players," translated from the German text of Dr. Bie's recently issued book, "Das Klavier und Seine Meister." The book will be illustrated with portraits of celebrities in the musical world, and with many curious reproductions of old prints.

IN noticing the death of E. C. Bigmore, in our last issue, we referred to his coadjutor in the compilation of the "Bibliography of Printing" as the late C. H. W. Wyman. We now learn that Mr. Wyman, the senior partner of the firm of Wyman & Sons, to whose initiative and perseverance the completion of the valuable "Bibliography of Printing" is due, is still alive, though no longer taking part in business.

A POSTHUMOUS work of Alphonse Daudet will be published in April by Eugène Fasquelle, of Paris. The book will be entitled "Notes sur la Vie," and will contain, in addition, a very considerable portion of "La Caravane," the book on which Daudet was engaged at the time of his death; the volume also contains some very picturesque observations and personal thoughts noted day by day in view of future works which the great novelist had contemplated.

T. FISHER UNWIN, London, has just published a volume entitled "New Climbs in Norway," by E. C. Oppenheim, of the Alpine Club, a climber of considerable skill. The ascents were made in the Søndmore district, and included some "virgin peaks," or at any rate eminences whose conquest has not hitherto been recorded. A. D. McCormack, the delineator of the Himalayas, has contributed several full-page drawings, and there are also reproductions from photographs.

PICK-UPS.

Publisher: Can you turn out another book in three weeks? Author: Why so soon? Publisher: It will never do to let the public forget you.—Life.

THE INROAD OF WAR ON LITERATURE.—Magazine Editor to Office Boy: Any one waiting? Office Boy: Yes, sir; four admirals in your office and six brigadier-generals in Mr. Burjoice's room, and some more military gentlemen outside, sir. I kept 'em separate, as you said, sir.—Life.

RECIPE FOR AN "AYLWIN" STEW.—In the current Books of To-day and the Books of To-morrow, Arthur Pendenys gives some amusing "recipes," from which we take the following for "Aylwin Stew":

Take luminous foreheads and garnish with rue
And plenty of Romany, Borrowed or new;
Add sunsets and fate and pre-Raphaelite chutney,
And stand twenty years in an oven at Putney.

The reference in the last line is, of course, to the long period during which Mr. Watts-Dunton's famous novel remained in manuscript or in type, unpublished.

HARD ON THE AUTHOR.—The author wanted some reading, and he sought out an unfamiliar shop. Unfortunately he was a facetious author. There were people who thought him rather proud of himself. At any rate, he thought he would be recognized anywhere, because his portrait had appeared with some frequency in the periodical press. So when, after he had chosen several works of fiction by other writers, the salesman handed him a copy of his own latest book, he winked drolly at the man behind the counter, and pushed the book away from him in mock disgust. "For heaven's sake, no!" he cried. "I can't read that man's stuff." "Well, to tell you the truth," said the salesman, solemnly, "I can't either!"—Tit-Bits.

WHO IS ANDREW LANG?—The following amusing extract is from "The Child's Guide to Literature" in Hatchards' Books of To-day and the Books of To-morrow: Q.—Who is Andrew Lang? A.—A syndicate of literary gentlemen. Q.—But I have seen photographs of him. A.—They were composite photographs. Q.—You mean to say he really doesn't exist? A.—He couldn't. No man could do as much as he. Q.—How much? A.—He writes leading articles for the Daily News. He reviews novels for the Times. He gossips in Longman's. He is the new historian of Scotland. He is the first authority on the '45. He edits fairy tales, and Dickens, and Walter Scott. He translated Homer and Theocritus. He knows Edmund Gosse —. Q.—Steady, on. A.—He can preface anything; Coleridge's poems, Australian folk tales, or Hittite inscriptions. He is a poet and a parodist and a determined letter-writer. He knows all about cricket. He plays golf. He catches salmon. Q.—I say! I say! A.—He's the biographer of Lord Iddlesleigh and J. G. Lockhart. He is an authority on religion and spirit-rapping. He discovered Rider Haggard. He —. Q.—That'll do. Have it your own way. A.—Yes, I thought I could convince you. There is no Andrew Lang. It is only a name—like Bovril—for trade purposes. Andrew Lang is really a Kensington secret society that exists to make good reading.

AUCTION SALES.

[We shall be pleased to insert under this heading, without charge, advance notices of auction sales to be held anywhere in the United States. Word must reach us before Wednesday evening, to be in time for issue of same week.]

MARCH 1, 2, 3 P.M.—A portion of the library of the late Edward Wells, of Peekskill, N. Y., containing classical, philosophical, historical, and legal literature. (569 lots.)—Bangs.

MARCH 6-10, 3 P.M.—Part 2 of George H. Richmond & Co.'s stock, consisting chiefly of Americana. (1448 lots.)—Bangs. [A third part will be sold shortly.]

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS

Publish this Week:

The New Far East.

A Study of Present Political Conditions and Prospects. By ARTHUR DIÓSY, Vice-Chairman of the Council of the Japan Society. With 12 illustrations from special designs by Kubota Beisen, of Tokio, a reproduction of a cartoon designed by His Majesty the German Emperor, and a specially drawn map. 8vo, $3.50.

The author shows that Japan is not only a travellers' paradise, but also the land of a brave and serious nation of fighting and thinking men; a nation capable of being, and determined to be, a dominant factor in the Eastern world. China, credited until her overthrow with boundless stores of latent strength, is shown to be an inert mass, drifting toward disintegration.

The West Indies.

A History of the Islands of the West Indian Archipelago, together with an account of their Physical Characteristics, Natural Resources, and Present Condition. By AMOS KIDDER FISKE, A.M., author of "The Jewish Scriptures," "The Myths of Israel," etc. No. 55 in The Story of the Nations Series. Fully illustrated. Large 12mo, $1.50; half leather, gilt top, $1.75.

The events of the past year have begotten, at least in the United States, a new and keener interest, not only in Cuba and Puerto Rico, but in all of that great group of American islands which still remain so largely under European control. Prof. Fiske's purpose has been to compress within the compass of one moderate volume, and yet to present with adequate form and color and in a popular style, the information about the West Indies—their history and physical aspects, their natural resources and material condition, their political relations and apparent destiny—which would meet the needs of that numerous but undefinable person, the "general reader."

Volcanoes.

Their Structure and Significance. By T. G. BONNEY, D.Sc., LL.D., F.R.S., Professor of Geology at University College, London. No. 5 in the Science Series. Illustrated. 12mo, $2.00.

The author has endeavored to lead the reader through descriptions of the varied phenomena of volcanic action, in the present and in the past, towards ascertaining by inference the cause or causes of eruptions. The book opens with an account of "a living volcano," instances being given which explain it at every stage from birth to death.

Previous volumes in the Science Series are:

- 1.—The Study of Man. By Prof. A. C. HADDON. Fully illustrated. 8vo, $2.00.
- 2.—The Groundwork of Science. A Study of Epistemology. By ST. GEORGE MIVART. 8vo, $1.75.
- 3.—Rivers of North America. A Reading Lesson for Students of Geography and Geology. By ISRAEL C. RUSSELL. Fully illustrated. 8vo, $2.00.
- 4.—Earth Sculpture; or, The Origin of Land Forms. By JAMES GEIKIE. Fully illustrated. 8vo, $1.75.

The Law and History of Copyright in Books.

By AUGUSTINE BIRRELL, O.C., Member of Parliament and Quaim Professor of Law at University College, Oxford. 8vo, $1.25, net.

The author of "Obiter Dicta," in his agreeable manner and perspicuous style, traces from its beginnings the history of public acknowledgment that an author has legal rights in the profits of his creations. Referring to this book, an authority in matters of copyright says: "It impresses me as an exceedingly effective presentation of the subject-matter, and I judge that it ought to be of service, not only to the legal profession, but also to librarians, literary men, and students of social conditions."

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON

Have Just Published:

Neglected Factors in the Study of the Early Progress of Christianity. By Rev. JAMES ORR, D.D., Prof. of Church History in the U. P. College, Edinburgh. Cr. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

Professor Orr marshals an array of evidence from all sources, including the most interesting discoveries of recent years in the catacombs, and by his wide and accurate learning makes a most effective argument as to the independence, originality and success of primitive Christianity.

Book Auctions in England in the 17th Century. By JOHN LAWLER. 12mo, cloth, uncut edges, $1.25.

The greatly increased interest taken in the present day by Collectors and Book-Lovers generally, in the records of Book and Fine-Art Sales, seemed to indicate that a fuller account of the beginning and early progress of Auctions of Books in England than has hitherto been published would be an acceptable addition to the BOOK-LOVERS' LIBRARY.

The prices given for notable books are specially dealt with, and the auctioneers' quaint introductions and terms appear in full.

London Spectator says: "Here we have, as far as circumstances permit, a 'Book Prices Current' of the last five and twenty years of the 17th century. Evidently there was less money in those days. The craze for first editions had yet to arise. They did not see the value of Caxtons. Three and twenty of these treasures were sold for between four and five pounds. This is the most conspicuous example of change in value, but the volume is full of such curiosities."

Sold by all Booksellers. Sent, postpaid, by

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

PUBLISH TO-DAY.

THE CHRISTIAN CONQUEST OF ASIA.

By JOHN HENRY BARROWS, D.D.

12mo, $1.50.

Dr. Barrows's book, which is, in some degree, the outcome of the World's Parliament of Religions, and of the author's trip through the far East in 1897, is an optimistic account of the results achieved by the introduction of Christianity into Asia during this century. The exact religious condition of the Asia of to-day is clearly detailed.

CATHOLICISM, ROMAN AND ANGLICAN.

By A. M. FAIRBAIRN, D.D., LL.D.

Crown 8vo, $2.00.

This book may be said to be critical or philosophical in its aim. It includes an analysis of the ideals of Catholicism and of the Catholic revival in England, and discusses scepticism and apologetics as represented by Newman and other exponents of Catholic theology. There are also chapters on some recent English theologians and their beliefs.

UNIFORM WITH FROUDE'S OTHER WORKS.

THE LIFE AND LETTERS OF ERASMUS.

LECTURES ON THE COUNCIL OF TRENT.

THE DIVORCE OF CATHERINE OF ARAGON.

New editions, uniform in style of binding and in price with Froude's other works, are now published of the three above volumes, making the set complete in this form. Each volume, 8vo, $1.50.

"He takes an old subject and weaves a new story out of it. One reads it with as much avidity as he would a romance."—Chicago Tribune.

IF I WERE A MAN.

By HARRISON ROBERTSON.

The Story of a New-Southerner.

The Ivory Series. 16mo, 75 cents.

This story of love and politics in Kentucky is the first novel from the pen of a writer already known to a considerable audience as the managing editor of The Louisville Courier-Journal, and a story-teller of exceptional ability. The hero, a young Southerner of leisure, takes refuge in the State Legislature from a course of love that is not running smoothly, and distinguishes himself by a revolt against the bosses and their machine. The politics and the love interest are woven in an ingenious plot.

READY NEXT WEEK.

STRONG HEARTS.

By GEORGE W. CABLE.

12mo, $1.25.

In these stories Mr. Cable returns to the field which gave him his best fame and his readers their greatest pleasure—New Orleans and its mingled races. "The Entomologist" has for its heroine one of those women who are especially Cable's creation. That story and "The Taxidermist" have all the charm of "Old Creole Days" with added power; while "The Entomologist" shows Mr. Cable's strength in an altogether new direction.

AN AMATEUR CRACKSMAN.

By E. W. HORNING.

12mo, $1.25.

Raffles, the hero of Mr. Hornung's new story, is the most fascinating rascal of modern fiction. A gentleman born and bred, he enters upon an astonishing career of crime, and his many adventures are described in this book with infinite zest and delicious humor.
